CIGNA HealthCare Names Chris Hogan Vice President Sales for its Small Employer Segment

Phoenix – August 26, 2008 – CIGNA HealthCare has named Chris Hogan vice president of sales for smaller employers (2-250) in Arizona and Nevada. Hogan will oversee CIGNA HealthCare’s sales operations and direct all activities associated with the growth and retention of the health care business for this market segment.

“I am pleased to have someone with Chris’ experience and talent join our team and help us continue to grow the services we offer to employers with 2-250 employees in these states,” said Steve Freeman, vice president of CIGNA HealthCare’s Western Region for the individual and small group segments. “His leadership and strong sales background will provide smaller employers with creative solutions so that they can continue to offer health care coverage to their employees.”

Hogan began his career with Great-West in 1989 as a sales executive in the Washington DC sales office. Hogan transferred to Phoenix in 1995 and was later promoted to regional sales manager. Under his leadership, the Phoenix sales office was a consistent leader in new and renewal sales. While at Great-West, which has now been acquired by CIGNA, he demonstrated his strong sales abilities with numerous awards for top sales performance.

Hogan is involved in various charitable programs in the community, including Special Olympics and Welcome to America, a program that helps refugees get settled in the Valley.
