

Score Better Health with Coach by Cigna on Samsung Galaxy S5

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. - May 22, 2014 - Global health service company Cigna (NYSE: CI) and Samsung Electronics Co. Ltd., are delivering the next generation of smart health coaching service: Coach by Cigna as a part of S Health* on Samsung Galaxy S5. The new digital health guidance system is designed to help the Galaxy S5 users worldwide make better health a habit.

S Health is a Samsung platform initiative that will help users collect and integrate health information from their smartphones and new Samsung Gear devices. S Health offers easy-to-use features in a mobile dashboard to aid making health improvement an engaging part of everyday life. Cigna is providing the content, experience and engines for valuable health insights for Coach by Cigna.

Built on the experiences of Cigna's own health coaches, nutritionists, behavior specialists and nurses, Coach by Cigna offers digital health guidance with a personality, integrated within the S Health App. Coach by Cigna starts with answering a few lifestyle questions to create a user's lifestyle improvement plan involving exercise, nutrition, sleep, stress, and weight. The new digital health guidance system will be available to Samsung Galaxy S5 users in 36 countries and 26 languages.

"By integrating Cigna's health expertise and knowledge with Samsung's leading edge technology, we expect to help our customers improve their health throughout their everyday lives," said Hankil Yoon, Senior Vice President of Global Product Planning Group, IT & Mobile Division at Samsung. "The approach of Coach by Cigna resonates with today's modern exercise practices and behaviors, because it is targeted toward establishing healthy habits that enable successful management of exercise, weight, sleep, stress, and nutrition."

Users can personalize their health goals and tackle related missions that can be measured and scored using S Health App's native fitness tracking data. User progress is supported by Coach by Cigna motivational messaging, quantifiable health assessments, and achievement badges that help individuals record their own personal best in life.

"Samsung has become the leader in the global smartphone market because of its rich technology, communication and entertainment capabilities," said Cigna Vice President of Consumer Information Technology, Eric Consolazio. "By introducing Coach by Cigna to the Galaxy S5, we add a new dimension that can connect Samsung users around the world with our lifestyle and motivational expertise -- anywhere, any time -- and help them to meaningfully improve their personal health, well-being and lives."

The Coach by Cigna service is for educational purposes only and intended to promote consumer health. It does not constitute medical advice and is not intended to be a substitute for proper medical care provided by a physician.
