

Cigna Returns as Presenting Sponsor of the Marine Corps Marathon, Continuing a Tradition of Honoring Members of the U.S. Armed Forces

QUANTICO, Va. & BLOOMFIELD, Conn., 11 July, 2019 - Global health service company Cigna (NYSE:CI) is returning for a second year as presenting sponsor of the Marine Corps Marathon® (MCM) to honor and thank U.S. military members, veterans, and their families and to support health and wellness in the community. Now in its 44th year, the MCM celebrates the commitment of the more than 30,000 runners and thousands of spectators who gather at this historic 26.2-mile journey through our nation's capital.

"It's a privilege to partner again with the Marine Corps Marathon to honor our brave military service men and women and their families," said Brian Evanko, president, U.S. government business, Cigna. "We are proud to stand shoulder to shoulder with the veterans and other athletes who are toeing the starting line this year, as we celebrate the power of the communities and support systems that got them to where they are today."

"Cigna has demonstrated a sincere appreciation for the military community and a genuine commitment to veterans. Combined with their dedication to improving health for all, MCM participants and their supporters were rewarded with a staggering array of meaningful interactions and engagements with Cigna," said Rick Nealis, Director, Marine Corps Marathon Organization.

In addition to serving as a presenting sponsor, Team Cigna runners will participate in the MCM and the MCM10K on Oct. 27, 2019. This year, Cigna will sponsor more than 50 athletes to participate on Team Cigna from Achilles International, a non-profit organization that helps people with disabilities participate in mainstream athletic events.

Among the group, 40 athletes will participate as part of Achilles' Freedom Team, an extension of the Achilles program dedicated to wounded members of the U.S. military. Several Team Cigna employees will serve as guides to Achilles runners. Team Cigna, several hundred strong, will also include Cigna employees, executives, clients, and partners.

Connected to Cigna's mission to improve the health, well-being, and peace of mind of those it serves, Cigna also returns as the presenting sponsor of the MCM Health & Fitness Expo. The Expo will feature Cigna's cross-country Health Improvement Tour, which encourages individuals to understand that whole person health means both body and mind. The Health Improvement Tour will offer free onsite biometric screenings and guided meditation while guests await their screenings. To date, Cigna has provided more than 33,000 free screenings.

The tour mobile site will be at the two-day Expo located at the Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center in National Harbor, Maryland on Oct. 25-26, 2019. The Cigna Health Improvement Tour mobile unit will also be at the Finish Festival on Oct. 27.

A Military Friendly® Employer, Cigna encourages health and wellness and to support veterans nationwide. For example:

- Cigna offers a National Veteran Support Line for veterans, their families, and caregivers – available at no cost by calling (855) 244-6211, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, as well as mindfulness groups exclusively for veterans.

- In 2019, Cigna's support of military veterans and their families expanded to include a public private partnership with the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs to improve safety and quality of care for veterans with chronic pain, who are at risk for opioid misuse.
- Cigna has a dedicated Colleague Resource Group within the company that focuses on the needs of employees and customers who are veterans, as well as veterans and their caregivers within the communities where Cigna operates.
