

CUSTOMER FINANCIAL INFORMATION PRIVACY NOTICE

Collection, use and protection of your personal information

Privacy Notice of Cigna Corporation and its affiliates (referred to in this notice as “we, our and us”). This privacy notice applies to our United States Operations.

We value your trust. We are committed to acting responsibly when we collect, use and protect your personal information.

Please read this privacy notice carefully. It explains the rules we at Cigna follow when we collect personal information. This notice applies to all personal information we collect about you.

Financial companies, including insurers, choose how they share your personal information. Federal and state laws say that we must tell you how we collect, share and protect your personal information.

What personal information we collect

The types of information we collect, use and share depend on the product or service you have from us. It may include your:

- › Name
- › Telephone number
- › Occupation
- › Social Security number
- › Address
- › Date of birth
- › Financial and health history
- › Insurance claims information

Offered by: Cigna Health and Life Insurance Company, Connecticut General Life Insurance Company or their affiliates.

What personal information we use and share

For everyday business purposes

We may share all of the personal information about you that we collect with affiliates and nonaffiliated companies (companies that are not under common ownership with us, such as our service providers) for our everyday business purposes. For example, we may use your personal information and share it with others to:

- › Help us run our business
- › Process your transactions
- › Maintain your account(s)
- › Administer your benefit plan
- › Report to credit bureaus
- › Support or improve our programs or services, including our care management and wellness programs
- › Offer you our other products and services
- › Respond to court orders and legal or regulatory investigations or exams
- › Do research for us
- › Help us prevent fraud, money laundering, terrorism and other crimes by verifying what we know about you
- › Audit our business
- › Sell all or any part of our business or merge with another company

We may also share your personal information with:

- › Medical health care professionals
- › Insurers, including reinsurers
- › Successor insurers or claim administrators who administer your benefit plan
- › Companies that help us recover overpayments, pay claims or do coverage reviews

For our marketing purposes

We may share information with our agents and service providers to offer our products and services to you.

We may share your personal information with other financial companies for the purpose of joint marketing. Joint marketing is when there is a formal agreement between nonaffiliated financial companies that jointly endorse, sponsor or market financial products or services to you.

We may also share personal information about former customers in the way described above.

Federal laws don't allow you to limit the sharing of personal information as described above.

Protection of your personal information

How do we protect your personal information?

To protect personal information from unauthorized access and use, we:

- › Use reasonable security measures, including secured files, user authentication, encryption, firewall technology and detection software
- › Review the data security practices of companies we share your personal information with
- › Grant access to personal information to people who must use it to do their jobs

Seeing and correcting your personal information

How can you see and correct your personal information?

Generally, you have the right to review the personal information we collect to provide you with insurance products and services if you:

- › Ask us in writing
- › Send the letter to the address below

When you write to us, please include your full name, address, telephone number and policy number in your letter.

If the information you ask for includes health information, we may provide the information to you through your health care provider. Due to its legal sensitivity, we won't send you anything that we've collected in connection with a claim or legal proceeding.

If you believe the personal information we have is incorrect, please write to us and explain why you believe it is incorrect. If we agree with you, we will correct our records and notify (1) any person you specifically designate that may have received the personal information within the past two years, (2) any insurance support organization who may have received the personal information from us in the past seven years, and (3) any insurance support organization that furnished the personal information to us. If we disagree with you, you may send us a statement and we will include it when we give your personal information to anyone outside of Cigna.

Additional rights under other privacy laws

You may have additional rights under state or other applicable laws. Further, you have the right, with very narrow exceptions, not to be subjected to pretext interviews.
